OLITEMA WAS CREATED BY FOUNDRY ALFE CHEM

From foundry and alloy treatment to the finished product through exclusive knowledge specialised knowledge of individual production processes

OLITEMA is an industrial reality based in Italy, operating within the Alfe Chem Foundry Group, for years in the field of lubrication and auxiliary chemicals for processing and industrial processes.

Our research and development, production, logistics, sales area and technical and administrative departments are committed to continuous improvement and customer satisfaction.

We work both domestically and internationally.

Olitema directly produces synthetic lubricant BASES from natural resources, through exclusive technologies and processes, which it uses to manufacture finished products with superior and sustainable performance.

In view of the profound changes in the automotive industry and the major political and economic challenges in the sector, OLITEMA develops and makes its technology and experience in the world of lubrication and innovative, sustainable raw materials available to users.
